President's Message

Greetings from your President as we look forward to Spring!

Well, I must say we had a fantastic reception at the OCAG. Those of you who participated in the event made it that much more successful. I couldn't wait and showed up a half hour early. The show was great, many thanks to the exhibit committee Marilyn Domiliski, Ann Valletta, and Trisha Monto Autore. A special thanks to Trisha who stood in for Betty Clayton that day. She made a terrific presentation for the LAS at the reception. The Guild provided refreshments and there was a nice gathering of artists and guests for the event.

I would thank our Demo from January, Janice Collinson, for sharing her expertise in the use of watercolor pencils. She graciously donated a beautiful painting for us to raffle off. We will begin selling chances at our March meeting ($2.00 for three tickets) and draw for the painting at our June "Pot Luck" dinner. Proceeds go to our scholarship fund. I hope that you did not miss Carol Colvin's expert demo in use of mixed media in Feb. She turned out wonderfully creative art work.

Get your paints ready and prepare for two exciting events; our April Festival of Art at Brick Library and submit one of your paintings for the summer edition of Out and About. There is no charge and at least a thousand copies are distributed in the area. A CD with two pictures, your name, and the names of the pictures must be in the hands of Joanne Zezula by April 2nd. Don't forget March, when our own, Valerie Morone, invites you to bring your paints to the meeting and learn some new watercolor techniques. PLEASE support Rose Sinatra's watercolor workshop. This is our best fundraiser and it is always fun to participate.

Finally, I can't stress enough the importance of paying your dues and encouraging new artists to join our great society. Treasurer Fran Collins or Membership Chair Barbara Dougherty will be happy to help you with this at our March meeting. See you there.

Sincerely,

Robert D'Imperio, LAS President

All demos are after Friday Meetings
