President's Message

Greetings from your President as we look forward to Spring!

Well, so far we haven't had any snow, good for those who have to clear it - bad for creating new winter paintings. It must be true, climate change has become global. Let us all hope it is not too late to make some changes. So here we are as winter is winding down and we look forward to spring.

I hope that you are making good use of the winter and are attending our meetings. If so, you enjoyed Pratima Rao's demo exemplifying a very enlightened approach to her oil painting of a landscape and you had the opportunity to once again see Tom Rutledge exhibit his skill at using water media. If you missed our Jan. meeting you missed hearing from the mother of one of our scholarship winners who came to tell us how much her daughter, now in a college art program, appreciates the help our award has given to her. Also, you missed seeing the results of our Creative Painting Contest. It was fun seeing all the interpretations and I guess mine struck a nerve as judge Rao picked my painting to win. Even better, $26.00 was donated to the scholarship fund. Members voted to have another contest and our new VP Deborah Rooney brought a still life set-up to our Feb. meeting. Paintings will be judged in May. Remember, "You have to be in it to win it." I would also like to thank Debbie for agreeing to be our new Vice President. I humbly appreciate that very much. She will do very well.

March and April are filled with special events. In March watercolorist Robert Stetz will demo and oil painter Mark Saenger will do a day-long workshop. In April we plan to celebrate our 40th Anniversary as part of our April Festival at Brick Library. It would be great to win a 40th Anniversary ribbon. I am already planning as to which painting I will exhibit. It is time for our members to do the same and let Trisha know what will you be exhibiting.

Hope to see you in March and in closing I again quote the words of Deacon Knoebel: "When you come to our next meeting, please bring a friend!"

Sincerely,

Robert D'Imperio, LAS President

All demos are after Friday Meetings
